vorsitzender@carnivoren.org

The German Carnivorous Plants Association (Gesellschaft für Fleischfressende Pflanzen im deutschsprachigen Raum e.V. – G.F.P.) welcomes applications for the first grant call on „Habitat Research Related to Carnivorous Plants“

Grant description:

The G.F.P. is a non-profit NGO. According to its statutes, it promotes knowledge and information about carnivorous plants and their horticulture, assists public institutions such as universities and botanical gardens in their efforts related to carnivorous plants and supports site preservation and conservation projects.

The grant Habitat Research Related to Carnivorous Plants is intended to support all aspects of research on carnivorous plants in their natural habitat. It covers 16.000 €. Applicants must be affiliated to a public research institution or NGO. The grant is transferred singularly to the institutional account of the applicant and must be exclusively used for the indicated purpose. Cash payments and transfers to private persons are excluded. Allocation of the grant is subject to the approval of the G.F.P. board assembly.

Application and deadline:

Applications should be prepared according to the grant proposal preparation guidelines of the G.F.P. and must be submitted by email in PDF format to the president of the G.F.P, Dr. Thomas Gronemeyer (vorsitzender@carnivoren.org).

The advisory panel of the G.F.P. will evaluate all incoming applications and promote the most promising projects to the G.F.P. board assembly for final decision. The decision will be based on scientific quality of the applications.

Application deadline is the 1st of June 2019.

Grant utilization:

The grant can be used for investments, resources and staff salaries related to the proposed project.

Project duration:

The grant will be payed singularly. However, the intended duration of the project should be provided.

Prerequisites:

The applicant agrees to provide an illustrated summary article (in English or German) for the „Taublatt“, the journal of the G.F.P., at the end of the funded project period or after a maximum of 36 months for long-range projects, respectively.

At the end of the funding period, a detailed financial settlement has to be submitted to the G.F.P.

The applicant is furthermore invited to present the results of the funded project either on the annual general assembly of the G.F.P or the European Exchange and Exhibition (EEE) conference. The G.F.P. is able to allocate travel funding upon request.

Funding from the G.F.P. should be mentioned in the acknowledgement of any publication resulting from the funded project.
